Who Needs It?

You may or may not need a jar of Apple Butter but you can bet there's a child somewhere in Virginia, maybe right here in Appomattox, that needs your help. A mentally retarded child that needs the help that Camp Virginia Jaycee has to offer. The Appomattox County Jaycees will be selling Apple Butter this week end, Feb. 25 and 26, at various locations around Appomattox. Why are they selling Apple Butter? Because each jar they sell means one more dollar they can spend towards improvements at Camp Virginia Jaycee.

The camp, located in Bedford County, provides facilities to aid in the rehabilitation of the mentally retarded. It was founded and is supported by the Virginia Jaycees and its primary source of income is through the annual sale of Apple Butter.

Look for the Jaycees Feb. 25 and 26. Buy a jar of Apple Butter. Invest a dollar in someone's future less fortunate than yourself.

570 On Local Food Program

245,764 In State Get Free Food

There are 160 families representing 570 low-income Appomattox County people on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's commodity food distribution program, according to the most recent report from the county administrator, Al W. Johnson.

Virginia as a whole had the second highest increase in the Southeast in the number of people on the food program in November of last year (both food stamps and commodity food distribution.) The total was 245,764 – up 32,155 from October's 213,609. Kentucky was first with an increase of 36,633, according to Russell H. James, Southeast regional administrator of USDA's Food and Nutrition Service.

Most of the increase, said James, was in the food stamp program now in operation in 74 of Virginia's counties. In November, 179,881 people were issued more than $4.4 million in food coupons or stamps. Of this amount, over $2.6 million was in free or bonus stamps. This was 24,195 more than the number issued stamps in October.

On January 3, Virginia was one of the first states in the Southeast to implement the new food stamp regulations.

In the commodity food distribution program, which is in operation in the remaining Virginia counties, including Appomattox, 66,077 needy persons were given over 2.3 million pounds of USDA - donated food in November. This was an increase of 7960 over the number on the program in October.

The following officers were elected: Rev. Deryl Holliday, president; Dennis W. Torrence, vice-president; Mrs. Frances Murray, secretary; and Mrs. Ralph L. Harris, treasurer.

The Council is composed of delegates chosen from each of the Appomattox county public schools on the ratio of one delegate per 25 members from each of the local P-TA's. A constitution and by-laws committee has previously been appointed and they presented it for the Council's approval. The new Council will not legislate for the local P-TA's or regiment them in activities or duplicate the work of the local P-TA's.

The Council will endeavor to guide, advise and enourage local leaders. It will be a clearing house through exchange of ideas and experiences, a channel of communication between the national, state, district and local P-TA, a training place for development for leaders through schools of instruction and actual participation and experience.

Rev. Holliday states he will be calling on the local P-TA's and keeping in touch with the Appomattox County school system. He looks for ward to working with the new officers and delegates to the of the new Appomattox P-TA Council and other leaders in our county school system. He seeks the prayers of those interested in our schools that the wisdom of God will direct all our efforts.
